RE: John Langlois

To whom it may concern,

I am writing this recommendation letter to support and provide high praise for John Langlois, Founder of Longneck Solutions!

Earlier, I sought someone who could provide deep technical knowledge to bring my vision to life for The Talent Journey! I was very fortunate to have found John! He has undoubtedly been the person I needed, given my little technical abilities!

John has provided excellent full-stack development skills with HTML, PHP, Javascript, and Airtable API! He architected the system, offered excellent business analysis skills, and recommended approaches to the application that I could not fathom.

Quickly, John became a trusted expert, which I needed, and a great friend. He provided great feedback from the perspective of my needs and the needs of the system's users and aligned them to benefit all stakeholders.

Throughout the project, John's level of commitment to the project and to me personally was unshakable. His many years of experience and knowledge in the software world have shown itself in the project!

I was pleasantly surprised at how quickly he took the project's needs, devised the plan, and started executing. I stood back in awe!

I can attest to his business acumen, technical skills, and expertise; he is an all-around great person to work with.

So, if you are looking for someone to roll up their sleeves and hit the ground running, John Langlois is the person!

I only have high praise for John's work ethic, commitment, competence, and dedication to any project he is involved in.

If you require additional information on John's abilities and exceptionalism, don't hesitate to contact me!

Sincerely,

Gregory Abel
